Code of Conduct for Students at SNDCOE and RC Yeola

Entities affected by this policy: All students at SNDCOE and RC Yeola.

Policy statement: Following are the codes of conduct specified for the students of the institute, which they are required to follow.

Online participation and registration: Students should take the onus of learning as the education system has become learner-centric. Several activities are to be carried out online, and students have to register online for various purposes. Upon intimation from the teachers, they should fill out the online forms such as examination forms for Savitribai Phule Pune University, Pune, feedback forms of various types, various registrations for placement activities, scholarship registrations, and several ICT-based learning activities.

1. Attendance: Students should actively participate in learning activities in the college organised by the department and college authorities. Students should maintain a minimum attendance of 75% in theory courses and 100% in practical courses.
2. Examination: Students are required to participate in all examinations with complete preparation and ethically prove their performance in the various kinds of examination activities, such as theory examinations, unit tests, preliminary examinations, etc. They should not engage in any form of malpractice that could result in disciplinary action under the examination policies and procedures.
3. Training and Placement: Students should participate in the training activities organised for them as applicable to them under the directives of the Training and Placement cell, and they should participate in the placement drives as per the directives of the Training and Placement cell with appropriate preparation.
4. Discipline: Students should adhere to the discipline of the institute while they participate in teaching-learning activities, examination activities, training and placement activities, and at special occasions such as field visits, social activities, cultural and technical fests, etc. Students should behave in a disciplinary manner as per the guidance provided to them from time to time by the institute authorities.
