Event Description:

On the date of 4/4/2024, Department of First Year Engineering had organized “Micro Project Competition”. In this event, our Principal Dr. D. M. Yadav addressed the students regarding the importance of technical event in technical institutes. He also said that such kind of events are useful in developing the various skills of the students. It provides them a platform to express their ideas, and showcase its real time application.

Key Outcomes:

1. It solidified the understanding of engineering concepts and principles learned in class by implementing them in a mini-project.
2. Students learned the crucial practical skills like Problem solving, critical thinking, design thinking, team collaboration.
3. Students learned about the important aspects of project development from design process to ideation to building a working prototype.
